Re: David C. Santos                    DOB: 02/07/1950

Diagnosis: Chronic (Discogenic) Low Back Pain secondary to Degenerative Disc Disease secondary to Anular Tear L4L5

Please be informed that I will reevaluate and reexamine Mr. D. Santos, a 57 year old businessman from Guam on August 14, 2007 in my clinic at St. Luke's Medical Center, Quezon City. He had been experiencing persistent low back pain for the past five years. More recently, he also has been suffering from recurrent neck pain radiating to shoulder.

As early as October of last year when he consulted in my clinic, surgical intervention was already recommended for his discogenic low back pain as his best treatment option considering the duration of symptoms and that conservative treatment modalities he received only gave temporary relief. After confirmation of disc level of involvement with Provocative Discography then we can proceed with the surgery. His surgical option is either Posterior Decompression – Discectomy with Instrumented Transforaminal Lumbar Interbody Fusion (TLIF) or Total Artificial Disc Replacement.

Barring any complication, he is expected to be confined for no more than ten days if he undergoes the fusion surgery and less than five days if he undergoes the artificial disc replacement.

For his neck and shoulder problems, X-rays and MRIs might be requested if on examination this prove to be necessary to arrive at the correct diagnosis and treatment plan.

Respectfully,

Mario R. Ver, MD
